ERP

(Advanced Enterprise Resource Planning Systems)

ERP

Enterprise Resource Planning (ERP) is the process of managing all business functions in a manner that is coordinated & efficient.

In a digitized business world, ERP is managed via specialized software that helps manage functions of business such as production, purchase, finance, human resource, sales and more.

ERP helps create an inter-connectedness between these functions and through this creates efficiencies in operations, which is not possible in a scenario where departments work in silos.

MOVING AWAY FROM 'ISLANDS OF COMPUTING'

Unlike contemporary ERP solutions, old business systems are strictly function based.

Each department has their own system & these applications do not 'talk to each other'.

Hence, isolation decisions are taken which reduces efficiencies.

Further, this increases expenses as each system needs to be separately maintained and updated.

ERP BY APPZZON

An advanced ERP system with modules that integrates in the most efficient manner. It's a move away from island systems of computing.

Seamless linkages between modules & a system optimized to deliver. Ground-breaking framework geared for tactical + strategic planning.

Hyper-intuitive interface that is user-friendly; even for the technologically challenged.
